

Outside Scholarships

All students are encouraged to seek outside scholarships to help with the cost of their education. One source for scholarships is from local civic, church, club and high school organizations. Please contact your high school's school counseling department for more information about local scholarship opportunities.

National organizations may also provide scholarship opportunities for students. The following list is not comprehensive but can be a good place to start your search:

Sister Thea Bowman Scholarship: <https://theabowmanfoundation.org/scholarship/>

The Hartford Promise Scholarship : <https://www.hartfordpromise.org/thescholarship.html>

UNCF Gates Millennium/Fidelity Scholars Program: <https://gmfp.org/> and <https://opportunities.uncf.org/s/search-wizard>

Stephen Phillips: <https://phillips-scholarship.org/>

The Philanthropic Initiative (TPI) Red Pine/Yawkey: <https://tpi.org/scholarships-college-success/>

Red Sox Scholars: <https://www.redsoxfoundation.org/redsoxscholars/>

Dollars for Scholars: <https://scholarshipamerica.org/students/>

Horatio Alger Association: <https://scholars.horatioalger.org/>

Daniels Scholarship: <https://www.danielsfund.org/scholarships/daniels-scholarship-program/overview>

Scholarship search engines can also help students locate additional scholarships. Websites such as fastweb.com are free for students to use. When using scholarship search engines, please keep the following in mind:

- You should not pay a fee to use a scholarship search engine
- Avoid scholarship applications that require a processing fee
- Ignore any emails you receive that say "You have won a scholarship" from an organization you have not applied to; these emails are often phishing scams.
